Kids are Laughing! Kids are Learning!

Suite 150

APRIL

What's New...

Occipital Lobe

We will place different toys on the table and ask toddlers for a specific one.

Temporal Lobe

Toddlers will make auditory connections by singing songs with varying pitch and volume.

Parietal Lobe

Toddlers will participate developing control over their eyes and hands simultaneously by reaching for a squeak toy and squeezing it.

Frontal Lobe

Teachers will encourage social interaction by having toddlers work together to put away toys in the correct spot.

150 Learns about Bumble Bees during story time.
