Holi Festival- Monday March 25th

Holi is a popular ancient Hindu festival, also known as the "Festival of Love", the "Festival of Colours" and the "Festival of Spring". Holi is a popular Hindu holiday celebrated most commonly in India that is also known as the Festival of Colors. It celebrates the triumph of good over evil and the changing of the seasons from winter to spring.

People celebrate Holi by splashing water and smearing each other with colours, which is also known as 'Gulal'. Children enjoy the day by playing with water balloons and water guns. Parties are hosted by people where they dance on popular Holi songs. The Holi Festival is a happy time when people come together as one and let go of their inhibitions.
